THE ORIGINS OF DISCOVERY

GALÁPAGOS 2021-2022

Steve McCurry

Cover picture: Iguanas, Galápagos Islands, Ecuador,
2019, by Steve McCurry

The Galápagos Islands possess a unique allure. Drawn by an innate sense of curiosity, we arrive, journey through millennia-old landscapes, and leave with a new appreciation for the act of discovery. Darwin's Theory of Evolution is a testament to the beauty of these lands and their endemic inhabitants. How will the Galápagos Islands imprint themselves on you?

*“No destination is comparable to the Galápagos.
From the endemic wildlife to the unique geology,
these lands have followed a distinct path of evolution”*

BARBARA MUCKERMANN - CHIEF MARKETING OFFICER, SILVERSEA CRUISES

*“The Galápagos is one of my favourite places in the world. You travel through a living laboratory that is seemingly designed for the study of wildlife, perhaps unchanged for millions of years.
The animals are unfazed by the presence of humans.”*

STEVE MCCURRY - PHOTOGRAPHER

“The Galápagos expedition experience is so special. Every single moment that our guests spend ashore and in the water offers a chance to witness the remarkable potential of Mother Nature. We are visitors in this isolated hotspot of natural discovery.”

A WARM WELCOME TO THE GALÁPAGOS

A pristine sanctuary of discovery

We would like to welcome you to the magical archipelago of the Galápagos. In the seven years our guests have been discovering these islands, we have developed an intimate understanding of how to form meaningful connections between travellers and the destination. Through our years of sailing the archipelago, we have been privileged to truly understand the soul of the Galápagos Islands, whether it is the endemic wildlife, the rare plant life or the stunning landscape. That's why we have enriched our two itineraries, adding five new destinations and an array of new highlight experiences to our sailings. These destinations have never been visited by Silversea, and will allow guests to immerse themselves in their Galápagos experience even deeper than before. From the islands' volcanic origins to their present-day status as a marine reserve and "living museum," you will see why this wondrous place inspired Darwin's Theory of Evolution after his visit in 1835. You will learn about the incredible diversity of Ecuadorian food and culture, and gain exclusive access to insider knowledge about the islands' ecosystems and how they have evolved into such delicate and magical places. At almost 600 miles (960 km) from the mainland of Ecuador, these volcanic islands are among the hardest places to reach in the world. However, if you are among the few who are so focused on immersive, transformative travel that distance is no object, prepare to be amazed. The 19-island-archipelago was the world's first UNESCO Heritage Site and rightly so. An astonishing 9,000 species of flora and fauna call the archipelago home, many of which are endemic. These include the Galápagos giant tortoise, the Galápagos sea lion and, of course, the charismatic Galápagos Penguin. Additionally, Red- and Blue-footed Boobies, Frigatebirds and Flightless Cormorants are popular sights, along with stealthy marine iguanas, green sea turtles and towering Scaevola trees. If you are looking for a travel experience that makes everything that you have ever seen pale in comparison, then look no further.

*It is impossible to be unmoved
by the environment: the inquisitive animals,
the inspiring feeling of wonder,
the very knowledge that you are imbibing
the strangest, most wonderful place on Earth.*

THE GALÁPAGOS AT A GLANCE

Biological diversity, evolved over time

Pinta

FERNANDINA 248 sq mi

A pristine ecosystem, untouched by outside influence. The famous Flightless Cormorants inhabit this island, as do marine iguanas, pelicans, sea lions and fur seals. The active volcano "La Cumbre" forms the island and different types of lava flows can be compared.

Bolivar canal

Has the highest marine biodiversity of the archipelago. Whales, including orcas, can be seen here from May to December.

ISABELA 1.790 sq mi

The largest island of the archipelago, Isabela has five active volcanoes, including the imposing Volcán Sierra Negra, the second-largest caldera in the world. Cloud forests harbour giant tortoise sub-species and mangrove lagoons offer views of stingrays.

FLOREANA 67 sq mi

The Galápagos' first human settlement was set in Floreana. Post Office Bay is home to a barrel used for letters and news, exchanged between whalers and other boats passing by during XVIII to XIX centuries. Flamingos and green sea turtles nest on the island from December to May.

 1535 FIRST DISCOVERED

The first recorded visit to the islands happened by chance in 1535, when Fray Tomás de Berlanga, the Bishop of Panamá, was surprised with this undiscovered land during a voyage to Peru. The first formal exploration of the islands took place in the XVIII century by the Spaniard Malaspina.

 1978 WORLD HERITAGE

UNESCO recognised the islands as a World Heritage Site and, in 1985, as a biosphere reserve. This was later extended in December 2001 to include the marine reserve.

13 MAIN ISLANDS + 215 ROCKS & ISLETS

The archipelago is located on the Nazca Plate, a tectonic plate which is moving at a rate of about 2.5 inches (6.4 cm) per year. The first islands to form here were the South Plazas, five million years ago.

SANTIAGO 226 sq mi

Marine iguanas, sea lions, fur seals, sea turtles, dolphins and sharks are found here. Darwin's Finches and Galápagos Hawks are usually seen, as well as a colony of Galápagos Penguins. You'll find Santiago Island giant tortoises inland.

Marchena

Genovesa

SANTA CRUZ 381 sq mi

The Charles Darwin Research Station and the headquarters of the Galápagos National Park Service are located here. This is the native ground of the Galápagos' giant tortoises. Guests will visit The Tortoise Ecological Reserve to interact with tortoises in the wild.

Seymour Norte

Baltra

Santa Fe

Home to the Santa Fe land iguana—a species found nowhere else.

SAN CRISTOBAL 215 sq mi

This is the first island in the Galápagos Islands Charles Darwin visited during his voyage on The Beagle. This island hosts Frigatebirds, sea lions, giant tortoises, Blue- and Red-footed Boobies, tropicbirds, marine iguanas, dolphins and Swallow-tailed Gulls.

ESPAÑOLA 23 sq mi

Española is around 3.5 million years old, and the southernmost island in the group. Española has a large number of endemic species, including the Waved Albatrosses, Española Mockingbird, Española lava lizard, and marine iguana.

25 THOUSAND POPULATION

The first human settlement dates from 1832.

1,432 PLANT SPECIES

Due to the particular microclimates and geological make-up of the archipelago, the islands are more like a desert than like a rainforest. There are 600 native species of vascular plants, thirty percent of which are found nowhere else on the planet.

77° SUMMER TEMPERATURES
Fahrenheit (25° Celsius)

Weather changes as altitude increases in the large islands. Temperature decreases gradually with altitude, while precipitation increases due to the condensation of moisture in clouds on the slopes.

PROTECTING THE GALÁPAGOS

Safeguarding the islands for future generations

As conscientious travellers, we have an obligation to enjoy the Galápagos responsibly. It is important to protect this fragile ecosystem and leave it untouched, while contributing to its preservation. Our guests are increasingly attentive to their environmental impact and share our desire to make our travel as ecologically sound as possible. Silversea's first-ever destination-specific ship, Silver Origin has been designed entirely with this unique environment in mind. With state-of-the-art technology and solutions adapted especially for sailing here, Silver Origin's footprint is minimal. The ship has a dynamic positioning system, which can keep her stationary without dropping anchor, thus protecting the delicate seabed. And thanks to a new hull design and advanced propulsion system, Silver Origin meets or exceeds the highest standards of energy efficiency. All suites feature a freshwater purification system, which significantly reduces plastic usage. And as education is often cited as the best way to encourage conservation, we created the Silversea Fund for the Galápagos. Dedicated to safeguarding the archipelago through educational projects, the fund is a big part of our commitment to keeping the islands pristine for generations to come. Thanks to this initiative, travellers can continue enjoying the unafraid heroes of the islands. Viewing species such as the lumbering giant tortoise, the prehistoric marine iguana and, of course, the flamboyant Blue-footed Booby in their natural habitats is an unforgettable experience.

“The Silversea Fund for the Galápagos is a natural extension of our belief that sustainable travel can open eyes and foster respect for our planet, particularly for such unique and diverse destinations as the Galápagos.”

BASECAMP: A HUB OF DISCOVERY

Connecting travellers with the destination

Silver Origin's hub of discovery, the heart of the ship, Basecamp is where you will prepare for your excursions, relax after returning, or just meet and socialise with your fellow travellers. The elegant lounge has been considered with guests' social interaction in mind, and is among Silver Origin's most innovative spaces. Having been specially designed to offer guests a chance to prepare for their next adventure, Basecamp connects to the ship's Zodiac embarkation area—the Marina—and is the perfect meeting point for Zodiac excursions. The flow of incoming and outgoing guests, along with the excitement that is endemic to any Galápagos cruise, truly represents the synergy between destination and ship.

Basecamp is also where guests can interact with educational activities and the onboard Expedition Team. These enthusiastic and educated individuals—more per guest than any ship in the region—are on hand to deepen your knowledge on the rare wildlife, amazing landscapes and captivating history of the Galápagos Islands. This means that your individual understanding of the flora and fauna of the archipelago is far richer and far more informed when experiencing the islands first-hand.

The jewel in the crown of Basecamp is surely the large, interactive digital wall, controlled by a central podium—through which guests can access destination-related content. The programme is tailored according to your itinerary and offers access to informative material, including historical pictures provided by the Royal Geographical Society of London, videos with exclusive aerial and underwater shots, excursion previews and scientific presentations. Elsewhere, Basecamp's fascinating artworks and historical artefacts will enrich your understanding of the Galápagos Islands' history.

Basecamp's interactive LED wall not only features bespoke, state-of-the-art software created for Silver Origin but is also the largest of its kind aboard any ship exploring the Galápagos Islands.
